Wendy Gulden, DDS

Karen Potter, DDS

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The second annual Women in Endodontics Summit was created by women for women and is established to support leadership and both personal and professional growth through education and peer connection.

This two day experience will offer educational sessions led by world renowned instructors as well as activities designed to promote networking, connection, and overall well-being.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Connect with other women in endodontics, share real world experiences, and discover ideas for creating your own leadership vision and style .
- Participate in the “Change Your Mind...Create New Results” live immersive workshop focused on the Neuroscience of Change. Identify changes you want to make in your life, personally & professionally & learn how to unwind old behaviors and patterns to rewire for the desired future state.
- Obtain a foundational understanding of the Gene Keys technology and how it can support your mental, emotional, spiritual and physical well-being. Learn how to apply each of these tools, leading to positive and sustainable change.
- Learn from experienced HR leaders and understand best practices in leadership and communication with your team, partners, and colleagues.
- Participate in a GentleWave® Procedure leadership roundtable discussion with practicing endodontists. Learn about their journey in the integration of GentleWave technology and understand how it has impacted their practice dynamics to include the patient experience, predictable management of complex procedures, team empowerment, and practice profitability.
