

EXCEED EXPECTATIONS IN ROOT CANAL THERAPY:

TECHNOLOGY INTEGRATION FOR A PREDICTABLE, PROFITABLE, AND PATIENT CENTRIC PRACTICE

Sound Science[®]
ACADEMY

INTENDED AUDIENCE

Endodontists interested in learning about new technology including the GentleWave[®] System.

COURSE OVERVIEW

As new technology emerges in dentistry, questions arise for the modern endodontist: what kind of impact would this technology have on my patients, my team, and my practice? This course will answer these questions and help you gain an understanding of the latest peer-proven technologies in the endodontic space today. Hear from clinicians who have leveraged technology to impact the patient experience, create a more predictable root canal procedure, and maximize profitability for their practice — without adding unnecessary complexity to their routine.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Examine the GentleWave System Mechanism Of Action and the science behind its safety
- Discuss opportunities for creating a more predictable and simplified workflow through use of technological advances such as the GentleWave System
- Review the return on investment and related practice management techniques with the GentleWave System, to include scheduling, billing, and marketing
- Apply learnings in a hands-on clinical lab with instructor oversight (live attendees only)

COURSE INSTRUCTORS

James Smith
DDS
Endodontist

Dr. Smith received his dental degree in 1980 from The University of Alabama School of Dentistry and completed his endodontic residency there in 1982. He has been in private endodontic practice for over 36 years and is an adjunct assistant professor with the Department of Endodontics at The University of Alabama at Birmingham School of Dentistry. Dr. Smith has co-authored an article that was published in the November 2014 Journal of Endodontics. His practice is located in Birmingham, Alabama.

Dan Boehne
DDS
Endodontist

Dr. Boehne is a Board Certified Diplomate of the American Board of Endodontics. He earned his DDS from the UCLA School of dentistry, where he received multiple awards and recognitions. He practiced general dentistry in South Orange County for several years before attending the VA hospital in long beach for his endodontic certificate. He continues to serve his community as an endodontist and a part time clinical instructor at the UCLA school of dentistry. In 2009, UC Irvine honored Dr. Boehne with the Lauds and Laurels Distinguished Alumni of the Year Award for his contributions to dentistry, education and philanthropy. He was named one of the top 40 Under 40 dentists by Incisal Edge magazine in 2017.
